This Los Angeles psych rock duo formed in 2018 creates a stadium-worthy sound with the ease of professionals at play. After releasing five studio albums and headlining a national tour, Movie Club is getting ready to release their next full-length record this December, Great White, which is already receiving radio play on internationally-acclaimed stations like KCRW. With several Hollywood residencies under their belt and listeners all over the world, Movie Club is continuing to spread their waves of universal sonic psychedelia into new places this coming year. Becoming known for their avant-garde collaborations with local artists in the cities they perform, the group invites instrumentalists of all varieties, performance artists, spoken word authors, and rock vocalists onstage for epic sit-ins, guaranteeing each show a unique and fresh experience for their fans. Trailblazers til the end, you can count on one hell of a trajectory from Movie Club.
